We were also hoping to help you avoid conflict as a professional courtesy but we would like to have some idea of your progress. Can you advise?

Hi Adam.

We were informed that there was an issue with the use of the name "second chance funding". We are determined to change the name just to avoid conflict. My team will be switching over the marketing material and the website. We cannot promise this will happen over night since there are many ongoing deals and email but we will be working on changing over in the next few weeks.
